Members of Rotaract Club of Birmingham and the Downtown Rotary Club spent Saturday building a playground for Bethel Baptist Development Center. Bethel is one of five sites where Rotary Club of Birmingham has a preschool learning program.

Building a foundation for fun

Rotaract and Rotary Clubs of Birmingham built a playground Saturday for youth and families at Bethel Baptist Church.

"We can never do enough to promote community and family," said Leigh Nicholson, community service chairwoman for Rotaract. "We are very excited to be in a position to positively impact another community."

Brent Peinhardt of Mountain Brook helps put together equipment Saturday on the new playground at Bethel Baptist Development Center.

The playground was built at the development center at 1637 Pearson Ave.

The Rotaract Club of Birmingham, founded in March 2004, is sponsored by the Rotary Club of Birmingham for young professionals. Birmingham's Rotaract is the largest in the nation.

A grant by the Community Foundation of Greater Birmingham and help from Dunn Building Co., which donated the materials, made the playground possible. Rotarian Jim Griffo, senior partner of Gresham Smith and Partners, and Chuck Kelly, a Sunrise Rotarian, designed the playground.
